Director's Desk

Mr. Krunal Patel

Director
Strategic Business Development

Dear Readers,

I am delighted to address you through Samvad and share some insights on the exciting developments happening within our organization. As the Director of Strategic Business Development at PATEL INFRASTRUCTURE LTD. It is my privilege to lead a team of dedicated professionals who are driving our company's growth and success.

Our success wouldn't be possible without the relentless efforts and expertise of our exceptional employees. They are the driving force behind our achievements, and it is our priority to foster an environment where their talents can thrive. We strongly believe in investing in our workforce and providing them with opportunities for growth and development.

Employee engagement is a cornerstone of our organizational culture. We understand that a motivated and inspired workforce is the key to sustainable growth. That's why we regularly organize engaging activities and events to foster a sense of camaraderie and celebrate the diverse talents of our employees. Whether it's team-building exercises, knowledge-sharing sessions, or festive gatherings, we strive to create an inclusive and supportive work environment.

In closing, I would like to extend my heartfelt appreciation to the entire team. Your dedication, passion, and relentless pursuit of excellence have been instrumental in our achievements. Together, we will continue to drive innovation, embrace change, and create a brighter future.

Thank you for your continued support.

Across all the segment of infrastructures, a nation's growing economy relies on the highways that have emerged as a dominant segment of the economy. Road infrastructure plays an essential role in India's growth story. Over 85 per cent of India's passenger traffic and about 65 per cent of its freight are transported on roads. With a total length of 5.5 million km, India boasts one of the largest road networks globally.

The Government of India launched The National Infrastructure Pipeline (NIP) in 2019 which envisages creating infrastructure services for raising the quality of life and enhancing the ease of living in India that matches the global standards with an initial projected infrastructure investment of around Rs. 111 lakh crore during FY 2020-2025 to provide world-class infrastructure across the country. The top 5 sectors to be covered under the scheme is Roads, followed by Railways, Power, oil & gas pipelines and Telecom.

In order to complement the National Infrastructure Pipeline, Government of India has launched National Monetisation Pipeline (NMP) in August 2021 and as part of that Government of India has initiated various models to attract the private investment in Indian infrastructure through launching several projects under PPP model like BOT, DBFOT, Hybrid Annuity, OMT, TOT, OMD etc.

To cater this huge expansion of infrastructure a big chunk of investment is needed to be pumped into the system which is obviously not possible only with the public money. Where does this huge revenue come from? Can there be new sources other than tax revenue? and here comes the importance of Private investment.

With an objective to support and augment Government of India's efforts, ASSOCHAM has organised the "Annual Flagship Infrastructure Conference cum Awards on May 17-18, 2023 at New Delhi", where Shri Nitin Jairam Gadkari, Hon'ble Union Minister of Road, Transport and Highways has consented to be the Chief Guest at Plenary Session organized on May 17, 2023 evening. Bureaucrats from various Government departments, state transport minister, top officials from Ministry of Road Transport and Highways, industry leaders across the country along with policy makers were present in the conference. I would like to take this opportunity to thank the entire team of ASSOCHAM to honour me to be present there in the forum on behalf of Patel Infrastructure Limited as one of the panellist to discuss on the topic on "Revival of Private Investment in Infrastructure Sector in India".

In the forum I have been asked by the Moderator to speak on those things that should be done in order to sustain and protect the interest of Private investors in Indian infrastructure.

I have been closely monitoring the developments in the infrastructure sector in India. It is heartening to see the government's focus on infrastructure development and the opportunities it presents for private players. The National Infrastructure Pipeline (NIP) is a game-changer, and we are excited about the potential it holds for the private sector. However, there are certain challenges that need to be addressed to attract more private investment in infrastructure in India.

Simplifies the LA and environmental clearances process: Infrastructure development in India has been at the peak due to various governmental policies which has tremendously invited a lot of foreign direct investments in the country. However, the sector is still faced with a lot of challenges and land acquisition being a major roadblock to the development of infrastructure sector.

Land acquisition is one of the most challenging aspects in developing an infrastructure project in India and has continuously been an area resulting into severe delay in executing these projects.

Availability of long-term financing at reasonable rates: The availability of long-term financing at reasonable rates is critical for private players to invest in infrastructure projects. The government can play a significant role in facilitating this through various measures such as the creation of infrastructure debt funds and providing guarantees for infrastructure bonds.

Focus on project execution: The government needs to ensure that the infrastructure projects are executed efficiently and within the stipulated timelines. This will help in building the confidence of private players in investing in infrastructure projects.

Speed-up the bidding & Tendering process: The government needs to cut short the lengthy process of the bidding and tendering for infrastructure projects. This will help in building trust and confidence among the private players.

Focus on innovation: The government needs to encourage innovation in the infrastructure sector by promoting new technologies and business models. This will not only attract private investment but also lead to the development of sustainable infrastructure.

Minimizing the challenges in tolling faced by the most of the Concessionaire: The realisation that, efficient toll collection will decide the success or failure of a project vis-a-vis capital investment is slowly being experienced now. Most of the concessionaire faces numerous challenges in tolling which discourages them for further investment in India.

Delay in Arbitration process: Despite of several amendments, India still lags from becoming an international arbitration hub because of several reasons, one of which is the inordinate delay in passing of arbitration award.

Overall, the policies of the Government should be framed in such a way that the investment of the private investor can be protected and we believe that with the right policies and incentives in place, private investment in infrastructure can be a significant contributor to the country's growth story.

"Use of Embankment soil in Road construction and its impact on Environment" In the forum the use of soil in embankment and its impact on environment was also discussed, and as part of the PIL's corporate social responsibility our concern has been put forward before the forum. As we know that due to certain codal provision, Roads are being constructed in India considering the HFL, as a result a huge quantum of soil is being used for the construction of these high embankment Roads. Sometimes it also happens due to the presence of numerous structures like underpass, Major & Minor Bridge, Flyover etc.

This huge use of embankment is sourced from the adjacent fertile lands through which the road is passing. It is also pertinent to mention that India is an agriculture centric Nation, where the preservation of fertile lands is of a paramount requirement of the Nation, but in reality during the designing process of any infrastructure projects this important aspect is being overlooked. If we see the other nation of the Globe, where road is being constructed with minimum use of embankment with height of the road is almost matching to the original ground level.

If we take the example of the Ganga Expressway Project where even for constructing a length of 155 Km road approx. 5 Cr. cum soil is required, and as it is a green field project and passing through a highly fertile region, a huge area of fertile land will be disturbed.

In one side the issues like green technology & global warming is being emphasised and on the other hand we are rampantly disturbing the ecological balance of environment by using huge quantity of soil in embankments in constructing these high elevated highways. This not only disturbs the nearby inhabitants but also creating a potential risk of channelization of water during rainy seasons and creating a flood like situation along the project corridor.

It is also seen that this high embankment road is prone to early damage due to settlement of underneath layers in compared to those roads constructed with minimum use of embankment soil. Therefore, the matter was discussed and put before the forum that weather is it possible to make necessary changes in the codal provision where the use of embankment may be minimized in constructing roads so that ecological balance of environment may be protected.

Once again I would like to express my happiness to share my views on this serious issue and I hope this will be helpful for all of us to understand the overall industry trend. Also thanks a lot to the entire team of SAMVAD to provide me the platform to share my thoughts & outlook with my dear colleagues.

Think Positive & Be Optimistic

Hello Everyone..

Hope you all are doing well by health & wealth.

Here I am Writing on Power of Positive thinking. Yes, Think Positive & Be optimistic. Positive thinking & positive attitude is playing a major role in our life to live better life in today's world. As we all know life is full of problems, we can't imagine life without obstacles. It's true we can't run away from problems but yes, we can overcome from it by our positive attitude and thinking. Today's world is filled with challenges and uncertainties, cultivating a positive mindset and embracing optimism can be a transformative force. Maintaining a positive outlook can have a profound impact on our mental, emotional, and even physical well-being.

Positive vision is very helpful to us in every aspect of our life. Take every situation positively and find positivity in every people makes life worth living. A year ago, I had read one book name is "Power of Positive Thinking" which is written by most famous American writer 'Norman Vincent Peale'. So, I am sharing one example of positive attitude from that book. "Once a physically handicapped but intelligent man went for job interview. An interviewer asked him about, being a disabled what kind of difficulties, you are facing in your life. A man replied with smile and said, don't call me disabled but call me a person with special abilities because the things that you can do with your two hands, I can do easily with my one hand. Nothing is impossible for me. And an interviewer impressed and appointed him for his company." So What I am going to say is our positive thinking turns the impossible things into possible one. Here I am sharing the benefits of positive thinking and being optimistic, Hope this will help us to live our life Successfully and happily.

The Benefits of Positive Thinking and Optimism

1. Enhanced Resilience: Positive thinking and optimism help us build resilience, allowing us to bounce back from setbacks and difficulties more effectively. When faced with challenges, an optimistic mindset enables us to see them as temporary obstacles, rather than insurmountable roadblocks. This resilience empowers us to persevere and find creative solutions, leading to personal growth and success.

2. Improved Mental and Emotional Well-being: Engaging in positive thinking and embracing optimism can have a significant impact on our mental and emotional well-being. It reduces stress, anxiety, and depression, as we focus on solutions and possibilities rather than dwelling on negative aspects. Positive thoughts release neurotransmitters like endorphins, which boost mood and contribute to overall happiness.

3. Enhanced Problem-Solving Skills: Optimism fosters a proactive approach to problem-solving. By viewing challenges as opportunities for growth, we are more likely to explore different perspectives and find innovative solutions. Positive thinkers are open to new ideas and believe in their ability to overcome obstacles, leading to improved problem-solving skills and increased productivity.

4. Strengthened Relationships: Positive thinking and optimism contribute to healthier and more fulfilling relationships. By maintaining a positive attitude, we radiate positive energy and attract like-minded individuals. Optimism helps us focus on the good in others, fostering empathy, understanding, and forgiveness. Building strong and positive connections ultimately leads to a more fulfilling and satisfying life. However, to think positive in every situation is not every one's cup of tea. But yes, we can try to solve problems positively and slowly we can see the beauty of happiness in everything. Here I am Ending with one sentence. 'Change your thoughts and Change your world'.

Thank you all.
